Costly Nation-wide Railroad Strike Virtually At An End

REACTION TO ARMY THREAT SATISFACTORY

By The Associated Press
One of the longest and most costly rail strikes in history was all but over today, and all mail service was restored.
The Postoffice Department directed all postoffices to resume normal mail service, ending various restrictions that were put into effect while train operations were disrupted.
The army's threat to fire striking switchmen was regarded as the main factor in breaking up the 10-day "sick" walkout.
The work stoppage continued in a few spots across the country. But generally there was a full-scale return to work—notably in Chicago, the country's No. 1 rail center.
Indications were that all strikers will be back on the job before the 4 p. m. Saturday deadline set by the army in its "work or be fired" ultimatum.
Thousands didn't wait for the deadline to return to work. The switchmen—who also were promised a pay raise—flocked back to their jobs in large numbers, joining the thousands who had returned to work earlier this week.
The army's demand to switchmen to get back on the job or lose their job and seniority came after President Truman's instructions to the army to take "appropriate action immediately" to get the roads in full operation.
The army has been in technical control of the carriers since the government seized them last Aug. 27 to halt a threatened strike.
The reaction in Chicago, one of the major hold-out areas, was swift. Nearly 100 per cent of the striking switchmen reported for work last night, compared to about 20 per cent on the early morning shift Thursday.
The early morning shift today on 25 railroads in Chicago also had nearly 100 per cent working crews, the army's railroad control board said. Of 1,558 men normally on the job, 1,507 reported for work. An army spokesman said the 51 off duty was "about normal."
There were similar reports from many other cities where the work stoppage had continued during the week. Only a few scattered points reported switchmen planned to remain away from work today.
The switchmen returned to work faced with the gigantic task of (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Controller Reported Content To Hold Food Price Line With No Change in Farmer's Parity

Washington, Feb. 9—(P)—Price Controller Michael V. DiSalle, content to hold the food price line at parity, won't recommend any immediate change in the defense act to knock the farmers' parity protection out of the law.
This became known today as DiSalle faced a food price inquiry of the senate-house "watchdog" committee on mobilization along with his chief, Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston.
Associates disclosed that DiSalle has taken his position in spite of official estimates that grocery basket costs will rise five per cent if wheat, eggs, citrus fruits and all other below-parity foods follow the price parade up to their parity points. Parity is a computed, fluctuating price declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and consumers.
At the same time, an official report showed that retail food prices hit another all-time peak in the last half of January, about eight per cent above the pre-Korea level.
And to curb potential black market in meats, the office of Price Stabilization (OPS) was putting final touches to a slaughter-control order under which all slaughtering and packing companies would be licensed. This was due shortly, perhaps today.
DiSalle's reported stand made it unlikely that President Truman will recommend elimination of the parity provision when, on Feb. 15, he sends a message to congress proposing changes in the production act.
Nevertheless, Mr. Truman's director of Defense Mobilization, Charles E. Wilson, is described as being seriously concerned lest the continued upsurge of food prices make it difficult to enlist labor's support in the stabilization program and in holding wage disputes and work stoppages to a minimum.
At OPS there was speculation that Mr. Truman might, instead, ask for subsidies to provide producers with a reasonable earnings margin without passing the added cost on to consumers directly.
A new "Czar" appeared on the Washington scene. Arthur S. Flemming was named by Wilson to become chairman of a newly-created manpower policy committee in Wilson's Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM). Flemming comes from the presidency of Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio.
Named along with the Center for failing to get the organization registered were William E. DuBois, the American Labor party candidate for U. S. senator from New York State in last year's elections; Elizabeth Moos, Kyrle Elkin, Abbott Simon and Sylvia Soloff, all of New York City, and described as officers of the Center.
The Justice Department said Elizabeth Moos is the mother of the former wife of William W. Remington, ex-government official who was convicted in New York this week of perjury.

Preparedness Committee May Agree Upon Marshall's Draft of 18-Year-Olds

Washington, Feb. 9—(P)—The senate preparedness subcommittee appeared ready to go along today with Secretary of Defense Marshall's proposal for drafting 18-year-olds.
Chairman Lyndon Johnson, (D-Tex) called for two closed-door sessions in hopes of winding up the group's month-long labor over a universal military service and training (UMST) bill which calls for lowering the minimum draft age to 18.
The House Armed Services Committee, working on similar legislation, is currently in recess.
Secretary Marshall spent two and a half hours with the senate group yesterday. He told reporters later: "We made very good progress."
Johnson said only two points remained unsettled:
1. The length of required service. It now is 21 months, the Pentagon asked six additional months or 27, and the subcommittee talked about 24 months "exclusive of leave."
2. A request of National Guard and Reserve Officer spokesmen for continuance of their right to accept some 18 year olds who would then be exempted from the draft.
Johnson said Marshall had agreed that many additional men in the present draft pool of 19 through 25 years would be called to duty soon.

All Restrictions on Mail Service Lifted

Washington, Feb. 9—(P)—The Post Office Department today lifted all restrictions on mail service.
An order, effective immediately, directed all post offices to resume normal mail service.
Various restrictions had been put into effect during disruption of train service due to the switchmen 'sick' strike.

TAFT PLAN ON TROOP QUOTA IS CRITICIZED

Washington, Feb. 9—(P)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) called "unworkable and impractical" today a plan by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to pin down American troop quotas for Europe's defense.
And Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) wondered if Taft was laying down "a challenge for 1952" in criticizing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's report of the west's military prospects and questioning the general's status as North Atlantic commander.
Both Taft and Eisenhower have been mentioned as possible GOP presidential candidates next year.
The Ohio senator took sharp issue with the general in a senate speech yesterday. He said Eisenhower submitted a "hazy" report on European defense and exaggerated "the danger of an unsuccessful war in Europe."
Taft accused President Truman of claiming dictatorial powers to send troops to defend Europe against Communism. And he said the administration was concealing from the people and congress just how many troops the U. S. and other nations are to furnish for the international defense army headed by Eisenhower.
Taft proposed that the U. S. contribute only one division for every nine put up by European nations.
McMahon, a foreign relations committee member who proposed that congress make a peace gesture to the Russian people, called the ratio proposal "a typical Taft approach."
"We're talking about the security and safety of this country, not the convenience of anybody else," McMahon told reporters.
Sparkman said in an interview that if it comes to a contest between Eisenhower and Taft on military recommendations, he will follow the general and not the senator.
Taft got backing, however, from Senators Ferguson (R-Mich.), Thye (R-Minn.) and Knowland (R-Calif.) for his demand that details of the project for bolstering western Europe's defense be laid before congress.

Canadian Pacific Crash Kills Seven

Sudbury, Ont., Feb. 9—(P)—Seven men on their way to work were killed today in the collision of a Canadian Pacific passenger train and a bus on a level crossing seven miles east of here.
The crash occurred in 47-below-zero weather and fog shrouded the region with visibility down to 100 yards or less.
The bus, owned by the Nickel Belt Coach Lines, was carrying the men to the International Nickel plant at Coniston. The driver, Edouard Carriere, was not hurt. The names of the dead were not immediately available.
Some early reports said 30 to 35 had been killed but later word was that seven had perished.

SEEK IDENTITY OF BUS CRASH VICTIMS

Chambersburg, Feb. 9—(P)—State police continued a painstaking job today of seeking positive identification of three women killed in a bus-truck collision on the Pennsylvania turnpike on Wednesday.
Maj. C. C. Keller of the state police at Harrisburg assumed personal jurisdiction of the identification task, commenting: "Tentative identifications don't count here. We want positive identifications."
Leads on identities of two of the women were expected to bring the arrival to nearby Dry Run of possible relatives, one from Connecticut and another from Texas, said Keller.

New Officers Elected For Youth Canteen

Leroy Salerno, extreme right in the picture above, was elected president of the Warren Youth Canteen, the "Spot", at the regular meeting of the membership held in the building last night. Other officers chosen are, left to right, Neil Siefert, vice president; Beverly Sidon, treasurer; and Laura Cosmano, secretary. All are members of the junior class, with the exception of Miss Sidon, who is a sophomore.
Presiding over the session was Nula Cheronis, temporary president, who also was elected to serve on the youth board of 12 members. This board includes the four officers and the following: Miss Cheronis, Ellen Henderson, Robert Reese, Dan Jackson, Thomas Campbell, Paul Gordon, Dennis Bonace, and Robert Foley.
The new president took charge of the meeting and with no further business to be discussed, adjournment was made.
Last night's meeting was substituted for the original meeting set for May. According to the Canteen constitution, six new board members will be selected next November, while the officers continue serving for a year term.
This group will have a necessary number of adult advisors appointed to it and will be the governing body of the Canteen. It will be their duty to see that an overall program is set up and put to good use, and to appoint the various committees from the membership to carry out the plans constructed.
The election marked one of the biggest steps in the Canteen movement, and the people of Warren extend best wishes for great success to these young people as they strive toward their future goal.

Philly Men Have Date With Market Basket

Philadelphia, Feb. 9—(P)—A lot of housewives got fed up with their husband's complaints that meals are becoming skimpier yet cost as much as ever.
So they resolved upon a bold course yesterday, demanding the men do the family food shopping for this week-end or go hungry.
The husbands can't get out of it, either. For the protesting wives—several thousands of them—are members of the Auxiliary of Local 234, CIO Transport Workers Union, which takes in employees of the Philadelphia Transportation Company. And copies of their resolution—quite official—were handed to Andrew Kaelin, union president, who told shop stewards in car barns and garages that "it looks like the boys have got a date with the market basket."

MOVIE IS MADE TO SET UP ADOPTION AGENCY

Harrisburg, Feb. 9—(P)—A move to set up a commonwealth child adoption agency has been started by the Pennsylvania Citizens Association.
The association, in a letter to Governor John S. Fine, said "direct services are best delivered through local child welfare departments and agencies."
This legislature's joint state government commission recommended establishment of a child placement service in the state welfare department with powers to pass on all adoptions.

LABOR SCARCITY IS ARGUED BY DAIRYMEN

Holidaysburg, Feb. 9—(P)—High industrial wages and the draft are rapidly draining off all skilled farm labor, say dairymen of the Johnstown-Altoona area.
They used this as a key argument for higher milk prices at a hearing of the state milk control commission here yesterday.
One spokesman, J. Harold McFadden of Grampian RD 1, representing the Clearfield county milk producers association, said the $1.60 pay raise recently given miners already is attracting men from the farms and milk plants.

CHURCHES BACK DRIVE

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9—(P)—The anti-rackets drive by church groups in four southwestern Pennsylvania counties has the backing of the Pittsburgh chapter of the National Reform Association. The association pledged its cooperation and also endorsed District Attorney William S. Rahauser's proposal to make numbers playing illegal as well as numbers writing.

Many Sections in Area Report Record Low Temperatures for Present Season

Warren County residents continued today to get the cold shoulder from the weatherman.
The mercury dipped to six below zero in Warren in the early morning hours today, but rural residents said this was virtually a "heat wave" for what they experienced.
For example, it was 26 below zero along Jackson Run, 20 below at Morrison Run, 19 below at Stoneham, and 16 below at Cable Hollow.
Today's frigid temperatures marks the fourth day in a nine-day period this month that the mercury has dipped below the zero mark.
The State Highway Department reported early this afternoon that all roads were open, although there were some where one-way traffic prevails at some points. It was stated that the snow drifted on some highways so fast on Thursday that it was almost impossible to keep them open.
Absentees in schools at Sugar Grove, Lander and Chanders Valley the past couple days averaged as high as 67 per cent, and as a result of this situation, buildings in these communities were closed today, as well as at Lottsville. Roads drifted so deep and fast Thursday it was impossible to keep them open, and last evening many pupils remained with neighbors because they were unable to reach their own homes. In other cases teachers used their own cars to see that pupils were safely delivered in their homes or with relatives or neighbors.
And the weatherman's not even bothering to change his forecast. He just reaches out from under his electrically-heated blanket and rubber stamps the forecast sheet "continued cold."

90-Year-Old Nun Renounces Bequest

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9—(P)—A $181,360 estate left to a 90-year-old Benedictine nun has been renounced by the nun and also her nephew, a Roman Catholic priest.
Sister Mary Martina of the Benedictine Order at St. Marys, said acceptance of the estate would violate the vow of poverty she made many years ago.
Sister Mary, who has been blind for several years, deeded her rights to the estate to a nephew, The Rev. Eugene P. Walsh, pastor of the Catholic church in Waynesboro. Without giving a reason, Father Walsh also declined the money.
The estate was left by the Rev. Monsignor Stephen A. Walsh, Sister Mary's brother. He was pastor of the St. James Church in Wilkensburg at the time of his death.
Attorneys handling the estate said it probably will be divided among 64 nieces and nephews of Monsignor Walsh.

Erie Methodist Conference Pastors to Continue Evangelistic Advance Meetings

With Methodists of the entire Erie Conference climaxing their week-long Evangelistic Advance series in mass meetings scheduled at strategic points Sunday, February 11, plans have already been set up to continue the program in other conferences of the denomination.
Dr. Arthur Colley, pastor of First Methodist church, Warren, has been assigned the direction of preachers of the McKeesport District for the Pittsburgh Conference, taking up his work next Friday, February 16.
Among pastors of this immediate vicinity who will be engaging in that series will be Rev. E. W. Chitester, Youngsville, who will go to Pittsburgh on Friday for the opening session in First Methodist church. He will then continue on to Midland, where he will be guest preacher in First church. He hopes to stay at the home of his daughter near Beaver, since his assignment will require a 45-minute drive into Pittsburgh daily, as well as the Midland services.
Dr. Thomas E. Colley, Erie, executive chairman of the Erie Conference advance and former pastor of Warren's First church, has announced detailed arrangements for the four mass meetings that con-

Radio Communication to be Used in Air Raid Test in Area Saturday Morning

County defense officials announced this morning that police and fire sirens, factory whistles and possibly some church bells will be used as air raid warnings in a possible test Saturday or Sunday when planes from Mitchel Field will be over Pennsylvania in a civil defense test.
Whistles at Hammond Iron Works, Struthers-Wells, and the Paramount Furniture Company will be augmented by police and fire sirens. One of the city fire trucks will be stationed on the Hickory street bridge, and there will be other trucks on the ramps of the various fire stations. The police car siren will also be used, probably as a roving signal.
The public is reminded that the test warning will be preceded by three short blasts followed by the regular three minute varying signal. If no test signal is given, the warning may be regarded as an actual attack.

RESISTANCE IN THE WEST IS SHATTERED

Tokyo, Feb. 9—(P)—American forces swept to the banks of the icy Han river near Seoul today. Allied shells poured into the burned-out old Korean capital.
Chinese Red resistance in western Korea seemed shattered.
A lean and lanky westerner, Capt. A. W. Myers of Lander, Wyo., sent back word to U. S. Third Division headquarters.
"Task force Myers now is wetting its feet in the Han."
It was a dramatic climax to a Red-hunting offensive that began Jan. 25 some 35 air miles south of the former Korean republic capital.
Taking ground was only of secondary importance. The Allies aimed to hurt the Chinese and Korean Reds and they did—more than 61,000 killed, wounded or captured.
Other armored task forces were within two miles of Seoul, on the left flank of the Third Division. One rammed within six miles of Inchon, Yellow Sea port for the capital, and then withdrew to Allied lines.
U. S. and Puerto Rican infantrymen moved up behind the tanks.
The U. S. 25th Division Task Force Dolvin, punching up the main road to Seoul, sent patrols to within 1 1/2 miles of Yongdongpo, the ancient city's industrial suburb on the southwest banks of the curving Han.
Only on the right end of the Western sector on the central front were the Reds putting up a scrap. Early morning counterattacks in those areas were hurled back.
Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. S. Eighth Army commander, visited the Third Division front and waved on Task Force Myers in its plunge to the Han. Ridgway praised his soldiers of many lands.
He expressed pleasure over the Allied drive.
But Task Force Myers had no chance to inflict losses in its punch to the Han. The Chinese had either been killed already or had fled. The task force drove to Karang, a village on the south bank of the stream about five air miles southeast of Seoul.
Several miles to the left of Myers' column, a column led by Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin of Columbus, Ga., shelled the ruins of Seoul from the flatlands directly south of the city.
To the west of Task Force Dolvin, a column led by Col. William Bartlett of Washington, D. C., shoved ahead without opposition.
The weather turned bitterly cold. Snow and thick overcast virtually ruled out ground-support aerial operations.
The bad weather also prevented General MacArthur from landing at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters on his 10th trip to Korea from Tokyo.
In the rugged mountain country of the central front—a 30-mile battlefield extending northeastward from Yoji, above Hoengsong and over to a point north of Pongchang—U. S. and South Korean troops ran into stiff opposition.

FILM SAGA OF FAMED OUTLAWS HAS EASTERN PREMIERE SUNDAY AT DIPSON'S PALACE

"The Great Missouri Raid," Paramount's Nat Holt production which opens its East of the Rockies Premiere on Sunday at Dipson's Palace Theatre in Jamestown, is an explosive case history that traces a career of banditry and bloodshed from its beginnings in Civil War utterance to its growth in one of America's greatest crime sagas.

Wendell Corey, Macdonald Carey and Ward Bond star in this film in color by Technicolor which reveals for the very first time the true history of Frank and Jesse James. Scripted by Frank Gruber, a historical novelist who has dedicated many years to a study of his celebrated outlaw pair and their gang, "The Great Missouri Raid" presents many hitherto unknown episodes in the history of his desperate band, and according to advance audiences, director Gordon Douglas has translated these fresh exploits into a thundering elluloid biography.

The story picks up the James brothers near the close of the Civil War as they try to secure Union amnesty for their guerrilla activities. A vindictive Army major whose brother had been killed in an affray with the band stages an abortive ambush as they ride in to surrender, and then hounds them and their families until, in anger and desperation, they take to a life of crime. The succeeding footage unfolds in rapid and brilliant strokes their bold and bloody exploits which culminate in a spectacular train robbery—America's first.

CORYDON

Corydon, Feb. 8—Corydon township supervisors held their February session at the home of George Black, with Frank Hall presiding and the secretary, Hulda Black, reading minutes of the last meeting. Routine affairs were considered by the group.

The March of Dimes party held recently at Onoville, N. Y., and attended by numerous local persons, was declared a fine success. A large crowd attended from the surrounding areas and Mrs. Lewis Mareney was chairman of the affair.

The Wednesday Afternoon Club met with Mrs. Jessie Bennett. The time was spent socially and with cards. Prizes were awarded and candy was served as a refreshment.

A number of Corydon women were extended an invitation to meet with Kinzua ladies for an extension meeting in Kinzua community hall. The topic discussed and demonstrated centered around tailored garments.

The name of Edward L. Van-Sickel is listed among 39 registrants scheduled to go to Erie February 12, for pre-induction physical examinations.

Mike Peters, a former local resident, now of Onoville, is reported slated for service.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Williams in Georgia.

REDS FACE SUPPLY HANDICAP

When the Chinese Reds pulled back last November after their first thrust into Korea, U. S. military men felt pretty cocky. They had the idea Chinese soldiers couldn't take our heavy firepower, and were going to be content with trying to hold a line near their Yalu river border.

Our cockiness vanished with the drive that hurried us out of North Korea and then out of Seoul and key points to the south. When we gave up Suwon, Osan and Wonju, everybody began assuming we were going back to the old Pusan beachhead.

But suddenly, Red pressure eased again. After several see-saw battles, we took Osan, Suwon and Wonju and pushed within half a dozen miles of Seoul. There we met stiff resistance which indicated the main Chinese lines.

Nobody, of course, knows the full story of this mysterious behavior, any more than they understand the Reds' November actions. Some said it had political meaning, since the slow-down coincided with UN "peace" efforts by Red China's friend, the Indian government. Others argued it was just the standard leisurely build-up the Chinese require before jumping off on a new drive.

But, at risk of being wrong again, many of our top military experts ventured the opinion that the Chinese had been badly hurt by our counter-blows, "Army chief of staff, was strong on this point.

The Chinese may yet muster the overwhelming numbers and the equipment they need for an effective drive southward. But if they do, it will be under the most colossal supply handicaps a big army ever faced.

SAFE DRIVING COURSE WORTH WHILE

An interesting report has just been submitted on the drivers' education classes at the Warren High School, showing that 33 juniors received instructions during the last semester that enabled them to pass the tests given by the State Police and to secure licenses.

An important fact divulged is that the number of students who take road practice is limited since the size of the junior class is too large for the instructor to give the experience of driving to so many. This suggests that while the project is one of the most popular, and in the opinion of many, one of the most important now offered in the school, some thought must be given to the necessity of expanding the course in order to accommodate all students who desire to avail themselves of the instructions so that they will be capable, if not experienced drivers when they leave school.

Making safe drivers among high school students is a worthwhile activity; its value has been demonstrated in Warren and it is hoped that ways and means will be provided to make the service available to a larger percentage of the students who desire to enroll.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

FRED T. MILLER, Calvary Baptist Church

THE PURPOSE OF LENT

Text: Matthew 15:19-20. "For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies. These are the things which defile a man."

"You are a spoiled brat." This was the psychiatrist's verdict to a young girl, I knew, a few years ago. He had not told her so directly, but her doctor-sister had interpreted for her the highly technical language of the psychiatrist.

That was plain, unmistakable language. So are these words of Jesus. Our reaction to them is to apply them to everyone else but ourselves. We protest our innocence, and announce our purity. We have never felt any of these horrible things in our heart. But it is time we faced the facts. Either Jesus Christ is the supreme Authority on the human heart, or He is not worth our attention.

He is telling us that these things that bedevil our modern life are the expression of what we really are. They are not abnormal growths, to be weeded out by processes of education, culture and refinement, but they are part and parcel of our human nature—human nature untouched by the grace of God. It is not nice to be classed with murderers, thieves and vagabonds. Maybe the reason we are not where they are is because of a mixture of cowardice and the protection of the cultured life to which we have been exposed. When we have stripped off the garments of social niceness, we find that we are of exactly the same stuff; one with this whole human thing, from whose heart "proceeds evil thoughts, etc."

That is the purpose of this Lenten season—to search our hearts and to recognize the diagnosis of Jesus Christ as true. It was never meant that we should become forty-day flagellants of petty pleasures, but that we should recognize the necessity of Calvary for us, and that the only safeguard for our lives is the redemption that is in Christ Jesus. This redemption means that Jesus Christ Himself becomes the stream of purity in our life.

Is This It?

Here And There

I. J. Hoff, former well known resident and founder of the Hoff Business College, now conducted as the Warren Business School, convalescing at the home of his son, Franklin R. Hoff, 581-A Shaler Boulevard, Ridgefield, N. J., will be blowing out candles February 17th on the occasion of his 84th birthday anniversary. Mr. Hoff, his many friends will be happy to learn, is convalescing satisfactorily from an illness that had him hospitalized for a time during the holidays, and according to reports, is getting around again. It would be a pleasant surprise for him to receive a shower of greeting cards from friends in this area, and we have a hunch that he will be well remembered. Just drop a card or note to the above address in time to reach him by one week from tomorrow.

In connection with a reminder that we are approaching the first Sunday in Lent it is interesting to recall that it will not be until the year 2008 that Easter will be observed earlier than it is scheduled this year when it falls on March 25. Unlike Christmas, which always comes on December 25, Easter is movable. It can come as early as March 22 and as late as April 25, a variation of 35 days. The variation is due to conditions of travel in the early days of the Christian era, historians tell us. The Council of Christian Churches, which met at Nice, in Asia Minor, in 325 A.D., decided that Easter should be the first Sunday after the paschal full moon which occurs upon, or next after, the vernal equinox. The vernal equinox is on March 21. One of the reasons for thus fixing the date of Easter was that in early days the holiday commemorating the resurrection of Christ on the third day after Calvary, was a day of great celebration in big cities. Pilgrims journeying to these celebrations went on foot or in crude transports. They needed moonlight to help them find their way at night. The reckoning of the Easter date was worked out for their convenience. The paschal full moon is the fourteenth day of a lunar month reckoned according to an ancient ecclesiastical computation, and not the real, or astronomical, full moon. If a paschal full moon falls on a Sunday, Easter is observed the following Sunday.

Civil War Era Is Theme of Program For Woman's Club

The Woman's Club is exceptionally fortunate to have among its members an authority on the Civil War era and Mrs. S. M. McClure, vice chairman of the Literature Department, is desirous that all members be present for the meeting next Monday afternoon.

Miss Dorothy Newell, well known resident of Warren, will give the program, reading from published magazines some of her own work, and showing authentic articles of that day. Miss Newell is a graduate of Pennsylvania College for Women and took her advanced work in English literature at the University of Rochester.

Club members were made more fully aware of the beauty of the architecture of Warren county in the illustrated talk given by Mrs. William Vogt for the Art Department program this week.

Mrs. Vogt chose as her subject "Greek Revival Architecture in and Near Warren." She was assisted in the program by Mrs. Robert Israel, who showed slides of this type of architecture, which enjoyed such popularity in Warren county and vicinity as early as the 1830's.

Mrs. Allison Wade, department chairman, presided at the meeting and appointed Mrs. J. H. DeFrees, Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Russell Elliott to act as a nominating committee and to present to the club at the March meeting a slate of officers for the department for the coming year.

Attention was called to the annual art show to be held in the spring and to include painting, photography and ceramics.

Mrs. Fred Beardsley announced a card party for club members to be held in the club house on St. Valentine's Day.

Mrs. F. E. Fenderson was hostess for the tea that followed. Mrs. S. W. Blackman and Miss Mabel Siggins presiding at the tea table.

Father and Son Affair at St. Paul's

FATHER AND SON AFFAIR—The above picture shows the speakers' table at the annual father and son banquet held at St. Paul's Lutheran church last night. Reading clockwise, they are Creed Erickson, Tom Schorman, Hilmar Roos, Rev. Nore Gustafson, Melbourne Karlson, Robert Karlson, Edward Erickson, Folke Odmark, Martin Carlson Allan Berglund, and Byron Swanson.

FATHER AND SON—with cut... Due to stormy weather conditions, the guest speaker was unable to reach St. Paul's Lutheran church last evening for the 31st annual father and son banquet sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood.

In substituting for the Rev. Paul A. Westerberg, pastor of the First Lutheran church in Jamestown, Gust Borg secured two color, sound films on Sweden and Denmark.

The program planned for the evening was greatly enjoyed by the large turnout of lads and dads, opening with devotions by Melbourne Karlson, who in turn introduced the toastmaster, Hilmar Roos.

Accompanied by Byron Swanson, Allan Berglund gave a vocal solo, "Dreaming Alone in the Twilight," by Hartley Moore.

In the traditional toasts to the lads and to the dads, Creed Erickson and his son, Edward, presented challenging remarks as a father and son team.

At this time Don Markle and Bob Alspaugh gave a Hawaiian and Spanish guitar duet, "In The Sweet By and By," followed by Martin Carlson, singing "Perfect Day" by Jacobs, and "Holy Hour" by Clark. Martin was accompanied by Miss Ruth Bengtson.

Two hymns, "Faith of Our Fathers" and "America" were also sung by the entire group. After the showing of the sound films, Pastor Nore Gustafson closed the program with the benediction.

The banquet was planned by the executive committee of the Brotherhood, with the members' wives serving the delicious dinner.

Meeting Called To Outline Plans For Red Cross Drive

Donald Schuler, Chairman of the forthcoming Red Cross campaign for Warren County, to be held during March, called a meeting of the co-chairmen earlier this week to outline plans for the drive. Mr. Schuler announced that the quota for Warren County will be $21,690, and that for the first time in several years a personal solicitation campaign will be made.

"Our local Red Cross is filling an important role in our community defense program," Mr. Schuler said, "and it is vital to the work now being done and yet to be done, that this campaign have the wholehearted support of every man and woman in Warren County. In fact, it is so important we are going to carry the Red Cross story into every home in the Borough, and into the other districts of the County as well."

With co-chairmen Albert Rasmussen, Ralph Sires, Knox Harper and Alexander Flick, Jr., Mr. Schuler outlined the personal solicitation program which will carry the Red Cross message to Warren County. A meeting for workers is scheduled for later this month at which time a movie entitled "Your Red Cross Reports" will show workers how the money they collect will be used by the Red Cross to help our men in the service, and to build our hometown defenses.

IN California, good cooks combine characteristic foods of the state, such as dried fruit, ripe olives and wine with sauerkraut. Mrs. Stanley Hardman of Pacific Palisades gives her recipe for special occasion dinners.

Sauerkraut Stuffing and Basting for Roast Goose
(Makes Stuffing for one 8-pound Goose)

One tablespoon goose fat or bacon drippings, 1 large onion, minced, 1 No. 2 1/2 can sauerkraut, 3/4 cup currants or raisins, 1/4 cup caraway seeds, salt, freshly ground pepper, goose drippings, 1/2 cup sherry wine or water, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup catsup.

Prepare and roast goose according to favorite directions. Spoon following sauerkraut dressing into goose for last hour of roasting.

In a large skillet, heat goose fat; add minced onion and saute until golden brown. Add sauerkraut, currants or raisins, caraway seeds, salt and pepper; simmer 10 minutes.

It will not be necessary to close goose after inserting stuffing. In a bowl, combine drippings, wine, water and catsup. Baste goose with this sauce at 10-minute intervals.

Another California, specialty comes from Mrs. Arthur S. Huey of Long Beach, Calif.

Demonstration At Tionesta Tuesday

A tractor and tractor mower adjustment and maintenance demonstration will be given next Tuesday evening, February 13, at 7:30 o'clock in the R. W. Dickrager Garage, Tionesta, by the Forest County Agricultural Extension Service.

Using a tractor mower, Grout also will show how to adjust and repair mowers to increase their life, reduce draft, help avoid field breakdowns, and cut cleaner in the field.

On account of the shortage of farm help and the increasing importance of making farm machinery last longer, County Agent Russell M. Smith invites farmers to attend this demonstration for suggestions on conditioning their equipment before the rush of spring work.

New Friends Will Bring New Interests Into Marriage

WRITES a wife: "A recent article of yours on how dullness creeps into marriage set me to thinking about OUR interests and it suddenly dawned on me that as a couple we haven't made any new friends in at least five years. Believe me, that was a shock—and I intend to do something about it."

Don't think you're all alone in having drifted along, seeing the same couples over and over, depending on the same friendships, instead of enriching your life together by adding new friends each year.

That happens to a lot of couples. During the first few years of marriage they make friends eagerly. Then they stop bothering—even when, as sometimes happens, the persons they used to enjoy so much no longer share their interests.

LOTS OF ALIBIS FOR PUTTING IT OFF

PERHAPS, a lot of them, like you, are slow to realize that they have stopped making new friends. Or they may tell themselves they are so busy they haven't time to put themselves out for others, to make the necessary gestures toward new friendships. And so they keep putting it off with some such vague remark as "We really should have the Joneses over some night, they seem like such an interesting couple."

But whatever the reason for not acquiring new friends through the years, it is a serious mistake for a couple to make.

New friends bring new interests into a marriage. The friend you choose today may actually meet your needs much better than a friend you made a long time ago, and whose interests have grown away from yours through the years.

Not that new friendships should crowd out the old ones. There should be room for many friends in your life.

And if you want to keep your social life from settling into dull routine, you'll keep that promise to yourself to make some new friends this year and every year.

Woman's Middle Years Can Be Most Rewarding of Her Life

"I LIKE BEING MIDDLE-AGED" is the somewhat startling title of a recent article in the magazine "Living."

It's startling only because so few middle-aged women actually DO seem to like being middle-aged.

Yet, why shouldn't a woman find the forties and fifties happy, rewarding years?

Isn't it in part due to the fact that the middle-aged woman is forever comparing herself with younger women?

Yet why, if she is forty-five, should a woman compare herself with women who are years younger and feel somewhat depressed and cheated by the comparison?

If she wants to make comparisons the middle-aged woman should compare herself with women her own age and older.

It's perfectly healthy for Mrs. Jones to compare herself with Mrs. Smith, if they are both in the same age group, even if Mrs. Jones falls short by the comparison.

HAS CHANCE TO MATCH A CONTEMPORARY

FOR she can hope to do something about that situation. She can hope to look as well and be as attractive as another woman her age. She can hope to keep as busy and have as many interests and as many friends as another woman who is in the same boat. She can hope to learn the things another woman her age knows or is busy learning.

So if you are middle-aged and don't like it, it is probably because you are comparing yourself with women who are younger than you are, who have things you once had and are living the kind of life you once lived.

If you want to really start liking middle-age, forget about the younger women. Let them compete with each other, and measure themselves against each other.

But you be content with measuring yourself and your life against those your own age and their lives.

There's no frustration in that—just challenge.

Citizens of Sheffield Prepare to Take Part in Practice Air Raid Maneuvers

The alert signal locally will be preceded by three short blasts on the local fire siren which indicates it is a test alert. The alert signal will be three minutes of warbling the siren and the all clear will be signalled by three blasts on the siren.

If the test signal of three short blasts is NOT sounded, the public must realize a real attack is imminent and should take cover immediately and remain until an all clear is sounded which is three blasts on the siren after the three minutes of warbling which indicates an alert.

Tonight Kane high school's Wolves come to Sheffield for an Allegheny Mountain league game and the second encounter this season between the two teams. Kane was victorious in the earlier game 45 to 41.

Overheated Stove Results in Blaze

Engines One and Two and the aerial truck answered a call to 117 Russell street at 7:18 p. m. yesterday when an overheated stove pipe caused a chimney fire which in turn ignited a partition close to the chimney at the second floor level.

Firemen chopped a small hole in the second floor at the chimney to douse the blaze, and damage was estimated at about $100. Four hundred feet of 2½ and 1½ inch hose was laid. The home is owned by Ward Lauffenberger, who occupies the first floor apartment, and Donald Mimm resides on the second floor.

At 10:45 o'clock, occupants again became alarmed when it was thought that the fire was re-kindling, and the emergency truck made a run to the home. There was no fire, but firemen stood by until steam and smoke odor cleared out.

Information About Security Payments

Many wives in this area will no longer have to wait until their 65th birthday to become eligible for monthly insurance payments under Social Security.

Bernard A. Farabaugh, manager of the Erie Social Security Office, calls attention to the provision in the new law for benefits to wives of retired workers who are now receiving Old-Age Insurance payments. The wife of a present beneficiary who has under her care a child under 18 qualified for benefits may now have monthly payments herself.

In these cases, the wife's payments continue until the child under her care reaches 18 or is otherwise disqualified as a beneficiary, according to Mr. Farabaugh.

He suggests that wives whose husbands are now drawing old-age insurance benefits and who believe they are entitled to benefits under this provision of the new social security law call upon the representative who will be in Warren on Monday, February 12th, in the basement of the Post Office, beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York — (AP) — Love is sweeping the country again. War is always a good heart stimulant and merchants are counting heavily on Mars giving St. Valentine a helping hand. It'll help their cash registers, too.

There's a strong drive under way this year to make February 14 another day for exchanging gifts. What merchants did for Mom on Mother's Day, they ought to be able to do for love, they figure.

Love and affection may run into many million dollars in sales by next Wednesday. The old tried and true Valentine cards, candy and flowers are still going strong. The greeting cards industry estimates that 300 million valentines will be exchanged.

But Valentine's Day isn't the Maury Massler of the University of Illinois.

simple thing it used to be. Now one industry or another wants you to call it "Kissie Day" or "Valentine Day."

The necktie makers hope that 47 million ties will be bought by adoring females for men they love. In fact, men are getting quite a share of the attention. Women are urged to buy them shirts wrapped as valentines, or cigars or gloves. And the jewelers have come out with a lover's-knot design for men's tie clips, cuff links and collar pins, as well as name-plate bracelets for servicemen or civilians.

The handkerchief crowd has imported a number decorated with an old-fashioned valentine as the ideal gift for the snuffle set.

Dolls and games are suggested for the kiddies.

As for the ladies, you can buy a slip or nightie trimmed with rhinestones, or bejeweled bra—and even one made of leopard skin. Ads implore you to remember her with perfume, lipstick, or a paquette of sachet she can tuck in her hair. And one shop thinks antiques make ducky valentines.

February 14 comes right smack in the middle of National Heart Week (bachelors will be reassured to know that it's also National Security Week). National Cherry Week gets a headstart for Washington's Birthday. And it'll be a National Sew and Save Week, too.

But for most businessmen the emphasis will be on the good saint's day itself—with gift selections in greater volume this year than ever and only slightly higher priced.

If you call it "Kissie Day," you'll please the tissue makers, who have teamed up with a greeting card company to put out a "tissue-kissie" valentine card containing an example of their product for removing lipstick traces after the valentine kiss the card solicits.

The Men's Tie Foundation, Inc., is plugging for Valen-Tie Day, naturally. It says 85 per cent of the ties will be bought by women and contends that neckwear sales for February rose 93 per cent from 1947 to 1950 just because women like to tie something on their men. Retail neckwear sales totalled 191 million ties, or $200 million, in the entire year of 1950, while ten years ago sales were only $77 million.

The jewelry industry council reports that this year there is more heart-shaped jewelry than ever before, possibly because war threats make people think about marriage. Valentine suggestions include "heart-shaped pins paved with rhinestones and centered with a pair of golden casement windows flung open to reveal what is inside the heart." If you're the more retiring sort, you can give your lady love a heart-shaped lock (holding your picture, you hope), or a heart-shaped watch for her lapel to help her be on time for the date.

Altogether it's going to be an exciting week. The following week you'll be observing Brotherhood Week. But you have to wait another month to get really back in the stride again — Honey for Breakfast Week.

The Changing Landscapes

RALPH G. ECKERT

Hello, Folks. During the past couple of weeks we have been having quite a bit of action in connection with your Conservation District. The Work Unit Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, co-operating with the Warren County Soil Conservation District resigned. Next Stanley Lawrence, chairman of the District board of Directors attended a meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Soil Conservation Districts in Harrisburg "Stan" was elected Secretary and Treasurer of the State wide association at this meeting. L. L. Johnson, the Commissioner member of the District board, and Geo. Seavey, Commissioner, also attended the meeting since they were in Harrisburg on business.

Conservation farmers, in the vicinity of Sugar Grove, have been busy during the past several weeks completing more farm plans. Looks as though the local contractors are going to be pretty busy this spring with pond construction and building diversion and drainage terraces.

Steve Mikrut, young Swede Holm farmer, near Sugar Grove completed his conservation farm plan about a week ago. Steve thinks the ground is too wet or too steep to raise his own feed but is convinced it will produce good hay. He has also decided to build a pond this spring, for fire protection and recreation.

low way, completed his farm plan and is having quite a bit of trouble with too much water in the wrong places. He is seriously thinking of taking a lot of the gambling out of farming on his wet ground by swinging to grassland farming including grass silage. Two diversion terraces have been recommended to help him get rid of the excess water.

A farm plan was also completed by Roy Allenson, of Five Points, near Sugar Grove. Roy's big job is going to be improving his pasture and getting rid of excess water. He plans on constructing a diversion to take this excess water off of the field before it gets down across the field to cause erosion on the lower slopes.

Last week Clyde Swanson had a meeting of his neighbor farmers on Swede Hill. The purpose of the get-together was to acquaint the farmers with the program of the Soil Conservation District. Carl Peterson, one of the District Directors, was there to tell the farmers about the Conservation activities of the local district. He was accompanied by one of the Soil Conservation Service staff who explained the conservation surveys and conservation farm plans. A lot of good questions were brought up for discussion by the farmers attending. A great deal of interest in conserving the thin layer of precious top soil was shown by those present.

A meeting of the Russell Chapter of the Upper Allegheny Young Farmers Association was attended by several members of the local Soil Conservation Service. A brief summary of conservation practices established during the past year was given after which colored slides of some of these practices established in Warren County were shown.

Here is good news for all you people interested in securing tree seedlings. The planting may be to control erosion, conserve water, interplant your open woodland or plant up that idle piece of steep or wet ground. All interested contact A. H. MAKIN' MUSIC—Comedian Jimmy Durante and opera singer Helen Traubel teamed up in New York to make a recording. First paired together in television, they were so successful that they have now invaded the duet recording field. Miss Traubel means business but Jimmy looks like he's talking through his hat.

IN HER STEPS—Donna Bolton, a Wichita, Kans., coed, gets into the swing of things on the anniversary of Carrie A. Nation's first axe-wielding raid when she demolished two saloons. The painting of the early 20th Century prohibitionist hangs on the site of Carrie Nation's first demonstration against the evils of alcohol.

FOR PEACE ONLY—These rocket-shaped pipes in London will make only the melodic tones of an organ during the Festival of Britain, a nation-wide exposition of British achievement to open in May. Although they look like missiles, the pipes are a reminder that Britain is preparing for peace as well as defense. Here a workman arranges the music pipes like instruments of the 18th Century.

PATTERNS IN ICE—Jack Frost was in an artistic mood when he used the water overflowing from a railroad water tank in Norwich, N.Y., to fashion this fantasy in ice. William Smith, eight, and Sandra Dixon, eight, suspect that pixies have been working on this railroad.

HELLO! — Three young DPs who hail from the Ukraine are peeking around the corner on the DP ship Gen. McRea to catch their first glimpse of New York and the U.S. Brother and two younger sisters were en route to Pittsburgh where they'll make a new start in life.

OFF FOR A VISIT—When Sgt. Paul A. Schmidt of Tinley Park, Ill., froze both feet in Korea, he was sent to an Army hospital in San Francisco. Because he was lonesome for his pet chow, Private Pe'ie, Schmidt's mother, Mrs. H. P. Schmidt, crated the dog in flight kennel and had him flown out west to visit his master.

SHE'S THE TOPS—After selecting Gloria Swanson the "Outstanding Personality of 1950," Celebrity Service, Inc., gave a party in her honor at the Stork Club in New York. Host Earl Blackwell and Tallulah Bankhead, the runner-up, pose with Miss Swanson who is starring on Broadway in "Twentieth Century." The honor was based on the number of inquiries received about her last year.

WHAT HAVE WE HERE?—A Korean youngster, obviously connected with the UN forces, is checking the papers of other Korean small fry. Almost indistinguishable from regular Military Police, except for his size, this lad attached himself to a U.S. MP battalion three months ago.

COUNTING U.S. MONEY—Mrs. Mary L. Mundie, a counter-clerk in Washington, D.C., is surrounded by stacks of worn-out currency which represent a day's counting, or $40,000 worth. The new electronic counter developed by the National Bureau of Standards counts 30,000 bills per hour. Though new paper currency has been machine-counted for years, used notes were too much of a problem and had to be counted by hand. The machines will save taxpayers $250,000 annually.

In each room South won the third round of spades with the ace and then lost a diamond finesse to East's king. In each room also, East cashed the last spade and exited safely with a diamond. Edell O. Lawson was inducted into the new cubmaster and Hinderlitter was installed as pack chairman at a dinner held at the First Presbyterian church last night for Cub 47, sponsored by the Home Mothers Club.

More than 125 parents and Cubs attended.

The dinner was a feature of the unit's Boy Scout Week celebration, with numerous awards presented by the retiring pack chairman, Dr. J. Sedwick. Cub recipients were:

Robert Armstrong, Leroy Johnson, Robert Erickson, Jack Barr, Bidwell, Buddy Chapel, Wil Anderson, Dick Fowler, Jeff Ch, Terry Stromdahl, Leroy H. Harry Tourtellott, Larry En, Jack Lawson, Dean Kays, Hinderlitter, Dick Lowe, Conboy, Bill Mervine, Donerson, Charles Nichols, Eugene Erickson, Jim Rohlin, Craig H. Location for the dinner was provided by Dr. Robert Steen, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

JAM TRAPS 20 COLUMBIA FAMILIES

Columbia, Feb. 9.—(P)—A flood caused by an ice jam trapped 20 families in homes near Susquehanna river today. The Cross issued an emergency evacuation order.

The post office at Washington, some four miles downstream from this Lancaster county borough, was reported to be completely under water. Workers sought salvage the mail from the flooding.

The ice jam, about one-half mile long, separated the Lincoln highway bridge from the Susquehanna river level 17 feet above normal, the highest ever recorded.

Two officials said it was impossible to try to break up the ice by blasting.

Action to Army Threat Satisfactory

Efforts to unscramble the jammed yards. An estimated 700,000 of the nation's 2,000,000 freight cars had been tied up during the blizzard, which started in Chicago on Jan. 30.

Industry also joined in getting back to full production. Thousands of workers made idle by the stoppage awaited back-to-work calls. The 250,000 workers in rail-related industries, notably automobile, steel and coal, were laid off by the strike which halted delivery of materials and cars used in shipping.

Losses were measured in millions of dollars and thousands of jobs in vital war materials.

Any Sections in Area Report Record

The outlook for tomorrow is much the same.

But this slight relief was produced—a lessening of winds which dropped through most parts of the state yesterday, causing much comfort to both pedestrians and motorists and knocking out power lines in Somerset and Cambria counties.

Many highway and city streets remained glazed with ice or crusts of snow, and authorities again advised travelers to move with extreme care.

In the Pittsburgh area, gas companies asked householders and commercial users to make voluntary restrictions.

The Methodist Conference Pastors

At this week's services. They will be held in Jamestown, Meadville, Brookville, and New Castle. For the Jamestown meeting, to be held at 7:30 p. m., Sunday in First Methodist church, Bishop W. L. Ledden, Syracuse, N. Y., will be the guest speaker. Final reports on the week's campaign will be presented at this time. Music will be by a 150 to 200-voice district choir.

Details for this mass gathering have been worked out by Dr. Walter F. Preset, Blairsville District superintendent; Rev. Wayne F. Farnham, superintendent of the Jamestown District; and Dr. Harold McMurtry, pastor of the host church. The last two men named are also former Warren pastors and well known in the section.

DISASTER SCENE—AT AN ANGLE—Projecting through trestle in Woodbridge, N. J., the trucks of a wrecked coach show where span splintered and collapsed, derailing eight of 11 commuter cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Broker's Special," and dropping them over a 26-foot embankment. At least 81 persons were killed and some 500 injured in the disaster—America's most costly train wreck since 1918 when a New Jersey subway train jumped its track killing 91.

FIRST STILL RAGES IN STATE HOUSE

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 9.—(P)—A stubborn fire, faring in old records in Michigan's huge state office building, today burned into its 25th hour, still defying control.

Damage to the eight story structure, housing key state offices, already was estimated at $4,000,000, with an upward revision possible. Part of state government was temporarily paralyzed.

Firemen from five cities joined in fighting the treacherous blaze which broke out shortly after noon yesterday, on the "M" floor six and a half stories up.

Woman Found With Body Temperature 34 Degrees Below Normal, May Survive

Chicago, Feb. 9.—(P)—A young woman, found frozen stiff with a body temperature about 34 degrees below normal, today was given a chance to survive. But doctors say she may lose both arms and legs.

Physicians at Michael Reese hospital said medical history probably does not show a case where a person with such a low body temperature—34 degrees—lived to tell about it.

Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 23, a negro, was found yesterday morning lying beside a south side apartment building in subzero cold. She was immediately taken to the hospital.

The hospital said it probably will be four or five days before it can be determined whether she will live, or whether her frozen limbs must be amputated.

Today, 26 hours after she was found, the woman's temperature had climbed to 100. The normal is 98.6.

Her pulse was 100, within the normal range. When first brought to the hospital, it was 12 beats a minute.

Then she was breathing three to five times a minute. This morning her respiration had increased to 28, also within the normal range. Her blood pressure also was about normal.

Scores of physicians visited the patient to observe her reactions.

THE MARKETS

New York, Feb. 9.—(P)—A rush of buying today boosted the stock market along the recovery route. Stocks extended their gains registered yesterday at the end of a two-day decline. Today's advance carried prices from fractions to around a point higher, principally in rails, steels and motors. There were several individual strong spots including American Woolen. It opened on a block of 2,800 shares up 2 at 46 1/4. Woolen dropped 1 1/2 yesterday after directors declared a $1 dividend. The stock paid $1 in December. There also was a fair amount of activity in a couple of utilities. Standard Gas & Electric was up a bit while American Power & Light sagged. This week has been a time of caution in the market place. On Monday prices on average reached a new 1950-51 high, the best level in more than 20 years.

Latest Sensation Among Heavies To Meet Brion Tonight

New York, Feb. 9.—(P)—Utah's Rex Layne is out to show the world his stunning upset of Jersey Joe Wolcott was no mistake.

If the curly haired farm boy from Lewiston, Utah, hurdles Cesar Brion of Argentina tonight at Madison Square Garden he will have a sound selling point.

Brion, who went the route in a losing battle with Joe Louis and has dropped only four of 35 pro fights, is a rugged test for 22-year-old Rex.

Their 10-round bout, starting at 10 p. m. gets full radio and television network coverage. A crowd of 8,500 and receipts of $35,000 are expected.

Layne leaped out of nowhere into the No. 4 spot among the heavyweights by his surprising win over old Jersey Joe. But he needs more than one important victory before he can talk about fighting Champion Ezzard Charles.

They liked Rex's courage the night he raked Jersey Joe with right hand body punches, despite a badly cut left eye. They liked the way he bullied inside, carrying the fight to cagey Joe, noted for a right hand sneak punch. It cheered the blood-spotted youngster when he got the unanimous decision. But they want to see more.

VOYAGE TO EDEN

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 32

ELSIE, looking bigger than ever in an unadorned sheath dress of black satin, held the place of honor beside Captain Rosario, looking for all the world like the cat that swallowed the cream. Every now and then she would make some droll comment that would cause a ripple of laughter to pass around the table, then join in the laughter herself. The captain would look at her blankly for a moment, then chuckle appreciatively and regard her with unconcealed admiration. It was obvious that Elsie, just being herself, was making a smash hit and that Captain Rosario was already thinking in terms of wedding bells. Molly and Peter, catching Elsie's eye, smiled their encouragement.

Countess Olga Wedemer and Mark Norwood sat at a table for two, seemingly oblivious to everyone but each other. For once, Norwood did not seem to be interested in food, although the menu more than lived up to the gala occasion. His one interest was his table companion, who was showing a lively interest in him.

Molly, watching them, thought she had never seen a more attractive couple than the dark, glamorous Countess and the distinguished-looking, archeologist. He seemed to believe that they too had come to an understanding. Even Elsie had finally conceded that the Countess wasn't a spy.

"I guess I was wrong about her," Elsie had said. "though I seldom make mistakes about people. She's just a lonely woman, like myself, putting her best foot forward in the hope of finding the right man. You should see her in the kitchen. It's grimmer than mine. I imagine she rents those diamonds—just for show."

Molly hoped Olga Wedemer had found the right man in Mark Norwood. If appearances were to be trusted, she had Molly believed she detected the wedding-bell look in Mark Norwood's face, in Olga Wedemer's face too, and she said so to Peter. He smiled indulgently, pressed her hand under the table and said:

"It's in our eyes, darling. We can't see anything else." Molly added thoughtfully, "because I'm so happy, I just imagine everybody else is happy too."

Impulsively she glanced across at the noisy table where Patricia and Bert Hasbrook were seated, laughing and chattering away with Marcia Collings and Clay Howell. Her eyes met Bert's and he smiled at her. He was in the act of lifting a champagne glass to his lips, but he put it down and spoke to the others, motioning toward Molly and Peter. Then the four looked across, smiled, and drank a silent toast to Molly and Peter. Molly felt a sudden rush of tears to her eyes as she waved a hand in acknowledgment.

"Oh, I'm so glad," she told Peter. "Now I know we're good friends. I didn't want to hurt Bert, and I know you didn't want to hurt Pat. I'm glad they've found Marcia and Clay..."

AFTER dinner they dropped in to the smoking room bar for a few dances, and Molly danced with Bert. The orchestra was playing "Remember," and he said, drawing her close to him for a brief moment:

"I'll always remember you, Molly."

"And I'll always remember you too," she replied.

She was glad when the music stopped and Peter came to claim her for the next number. Oddly enough, the orchestra was now playing "Always," as part of an Irvin Berlin series. Peter hummed along with the music:

"I'll be loving you always..."

She managed to hum along with him. Nevertheless, she was glad when he suggested that they leave the dance floor and go up to the best deck where they could talk over their plans again. She believed now that she had hurt Bert by breaking off the engagement. His unexpected good sportsmanship had touched her. It was Peter she loved, but she had not wanted to hurt anybody.

They sat on a bench on the deserted boat deck, their arms entwined, talking over their plans for the future; plans that were now so familiar that discussing them was more or less a matter of routine and an excuse for being together as much as possible.

Molly would go straight to Washington, give in her resignation, perhaps work a few weeks until someone had been found to replace her. Then she would go on to Millidgeville, for she and Peter planned to be married in the little church that she and her father had attended. In the town where everybody would rejoice to see "Old Doc" Leonard's daughter Molly marrying a struggling young doctor and getting right back into the groove where she really belonged, always had belonged.

How had she ever been so silly as to think she could run away from her rightful destiny? How had she ever been so stupid as to think that the people her father had ministered to would have forgotten him, forgotten her?

Meanwhile, Peter would find another small town—as much like Millidgeville as possible—where a good general practitioner was needed, and arrange to set up an office.

"We could settle for Millidgeville," she reminded him, as she had once before. "It's a wonderful town, wonderful people. And at least there's a house there—and an office of sorts. I'm sure Father's old friends would just flock to you."

He put a hand over her lips. "No more of that, darling. I want no ready-made setup, no ready-made practice. If I did, I'd go back to my home town and hang out a shingle. I'm starting from scratch, completely on my own. Of course the going will be tough for a while, maybe always. We won't have any money for luxury cruises and things..."

"Money—what's that?" she teased. "Never having had any to speak of, I wouldn't know. And as for tough going—what do you think I am anyhow, Peter O'Malley? A birdbrain?"

For a moment Peter didn't speak. He simply took her in his arms and kissed her quite thoroughly. "What do I think you are?" he repeated presently. "I think you're just exactly what any frightened doctor would order for a wife. Even if I didn't love you, I'd want to marry you anyhow."

"Well! Of all things," Molly exclaimed. Then she grinned and snuggled close to him. This was no time to be coy or to mince words. She was as sure of Peter's love for her as she was of her love for him. That was enough for any woman.

THE END

Nelson Sets Record in Style Shop Victory Over Ramblers

Gail Nelson set a season record and helped to establish another, when he scored a high 26 points to blaze the trail for the Style Shop's 95-51 victory over the Ramblers in the Y City loop last night. The 95 points racked up by the Styllets also sets a new season high.

Similar records were set two weeks ago when the Style Shop played the Rockets. At that time Bob "Stud" Simpson, Style Shop 6-6 center, hit for the high mark in 25 points, with the team accounting for 87.

Other action in the league last night gave the Youngville Merchants a 59-43 triumph over the New Process, the latter now posting six straight defeats.

The Ramblers bowed very graciously to their on rushing opponent, making scoring close only in the second period, 19-18. In the final quarter the victors built up a 20 point margin.

Following Nelson's 26 counters were George "Ace" Hesch and Jack White, with 16 and 15 respectively, Chuck Irvine and Jim Peterson leading the way for the Ramblers with 14 and 12.

Youngville outscored the NPC in all but the third section last night, to move into third place in league standings. Stu Smith and Lefty Haight hit for 15 and 13 units for Youngville. Don Baldensperger and "Tubbs" Connor sharing game honors with similar counts for the Process.

Speed Demons!

Have you ever seen the International 500-mile Sweepstakes held annually at Indianapolis, Indiana? No? Well then take a tip from me, the next time it comes around, use the axle on Junior's piggy bank and treat yourself to the thrill of a lifetime! Back in 1937, Wilbur Shaw, driving a Shaw—Gilmore Special, thundered past the 500-mile goal line just two and sixteen-one hundredths seconds ahead of Ralph Hepburn in a Hamilton Harris Special.

The thrilling finish broke practically every previous record for the course. For the last 200 miles Shaw and Hepburn saw-sawed back and forth for the lead and as they came down the last 10 miles Shaw was leading by less than a lap with Hepburn inching up bit by bit. As they shot down from the last high banked turn into the home stretch, Shaw with a final burst of speed flashed across the finish line as the crowd of 172,000 yelled themselves hoarse with excitement. Shaw had covered the 500-mile course at average speed of 113.560 miles per hour!

STEPPING UP—Roger Bowman tries out last season's Jersey cap at his Amsterdam, N. Y., home. Caps represent previous professional clubs of 23-year-old left-hand pitcher—Trenton, N. J., in City and Jersey City. He was the strikeout king of the International League last trip. (NEA)

Warren Dragon Cagers Battle Meadville Bulldogs at Beaty

Warren Dragon basketballers, battling along at an even 500 clip with eight wins and eight losses, tangled with the Meadville Bulldogs tonight in a Section 2 League game.

The scrap will be played at Beaty court, starting at 8:30 o'clock. A preliminary game will get under way at 7:15.

Meadville is currently sharing the Section 2 league lead with Titusville. The team is tall and powerful, but the Dragons have been playing an excellent brand of ball during the past several games and are expected to give the visitors quite a battle.

In the first meeting between the teams at Meadville, the Bulldogs won by a 41-30 count.

Another Section 2 scrap tonight will pair Titusville and Franklin on the Franklin court.

Oil City, fifth member of the Section 2 league race, will meet the red-hot Cranberry five in a non-league tussle on the Oilers' court tonight.

Other county scholastic teams also slated for action tonight.

Sheffield will battle the Kane Wolves on the Sheffield court in an Allegheny Mountain League tussle, with Kane shooting for its 42nd consecutive league triumph over a span of several seasons.

Youngville will have the welcome mat out for Sugar Grove for an upper Allegheny League scrap, while Tionesta travels to Marienville for another tussle in the same circuit.

Other district games tonight: Corry at Millersburg. Pleasantville at Spartansburg.

Sportsmen's Group to Tackle Problem of Special Doe Days

Harrisburg, Feb. 9—(P)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs will tackle the controversial problem of a special doe season at its legislative meeting here Feb. 16 and 17.

At least four of the 29 resolutions slated to be discussed are designed to revive the federation's dispute with the state game commission over the antlerless deer season issue.

The federation, which claims 200,000 hunters and fishermen as its members, condemned last year's two-day doe season in two resolutions passed at its annual meeting here last Oct. 14.

The commission set last Nov. 27 and 28 as an open season on antlerless deer followed by the regular 11-day buck season. It said the action was necessary to reduce the state's huge deer herd. Then the heavy Thanksgiving day snows practically nullified the special season.

No dates have been announced for the 1951 season.

Tunney Takes Dempsey, Louis Over the Old-Time Greats

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—For a supposedly clever fellow, Gene Tunney took some pretty good pastings.

The Manly Marine made up his mind to quit after he was almost blinded in one eye and suffered a severe concussion before the second match with Jack Dempsey. His nose was broken three times.

Tunney's first meeting with Harry Greb was easily the bloodiest slugfest ever put on in New York in modern times. In addition to a smashed nose, Tunney suffered cuts three inches long above both eyes. His torso was a kaleidoscopic hunk of bent ribs and raw flesh.

Tunney says so himself in an article in a slick-paper magazine. "The only champion who ever retired undefeated, and stayed there points out that a college graduate has yet to win a boxing title. 'Possibly because college graduates have too much sense to enter the field,' he adds.

Tunney joins baseball warning prospective fighters against playing football.

"Football often develops overmuscular legs which slow down a fighter," he explains.

Tunney brings up the unusual point that champions always choose their conquerors, men who look like the softer touches beforehand.

"In what may be called the modern era of boxing," says Tunney "only Dempsey and Joe Louis can be considered really great.

"Tunney, however, beat the toughest adversary of all time to capture the crown.

"It would be misleading to say that Tunney would have outboxed Louis because Joe didn't do too well with boxers. Tunney might have won, if he didn't get hit. Louis had a habit of sometimes getting behind on points and then unexpectedly landing that mighty right for the kill. Tunney might have escaped it, though I could not be too confident.

"Louis' defense of his title against Ezzard Charles was just a brave and courageous exhibition by a weary old man.

"Charles escaped a knockout because of just that.

"Dempsey and Louis could have beaten most of the old-time greats—fighters like Jim Jeffries, Jack Johnson and Bob Fitzsimmons.

"I'm not sure how they'd have fared against John L. Sullivan, but I'm certain neither would have had a walkaway with Jim Corbett. Louis couldn't do much with Billy Conn and Bob Pastor, nor Dempsey with Tom Gibbons and Tunney."
